WONDER WOMAN

July 20th, 1942

Dear Army Nurse:

I am happy to present you with this complimentary copy of "WONDER WOMAN".

"WONDER WOMAN" is the only comic strip character of its type, that is, a female "Superman". "WONDER WOMAN" first appeared in one of our monthly magazines - "Sensation Comics" - about nine months ago, and already it is one of the most popular features in the entire comic magazine field.

You will note that "WONDER WOMAN", in her everyday existence, is Diana Prince, an Army Nurse, on special duty as secretary to "Colonel Darnell" in the Office of Military Intelligence in Washington. She only becomes her dual personality, "WONDER WOMAN", when it is necessary to help Major Trevor, of the Army Intelligence, (with whom she is secretly in love) foil the misdeeds of the enemies within our borders.

I should like to call your particular attention in this issue to my story on Florence Nightingale - in our next issue, I tell the story of Clara Barton.

I hope you like this first issue of "WONDER WOMAN". After you have read it, won't you be good enough to write, - if you have time?

Very sincerely yours,
